

CSCE 190|

Assignment Name: The accessible guide

Group Name: Cock-fil-a

Team Members who contributed:

First Name	Last Name	Email
Isabella	Anthony	lta@email.sc.edu
Nolan	Lamb	nclamb@email.se.edu
George	Cerimele	cerimele@email.sc.edu
Nathan	Lioe A Tjam	lioeatjn@email.sc.edu

Story of Stoute Jongen

---

Isabella Anthony

Stoute is a history professor at USC, he is passionate about history.

Stoute just got divorced, so to cope with the pain he goes out on the weekends to drink and find a new lover.

One late night after drinking Stoute went home. He went straight upstairs to his bedroom, while going up the stairs he missed a step. This caused him to roll down the stairs.

Stoute broke his foot and had to get rushed to the hospital.

Stoute was all worried and sad, thinking about how he is going to keep on teaching at USC with a broken foot.

He does not want to stay home, because he doesn't have children nor company

A nurse suggested that he should check out this app that is made specially for disabled people to navigated around USC.

Now Stoute can keep on doing what he loves at USC, with the use of the navigation app.

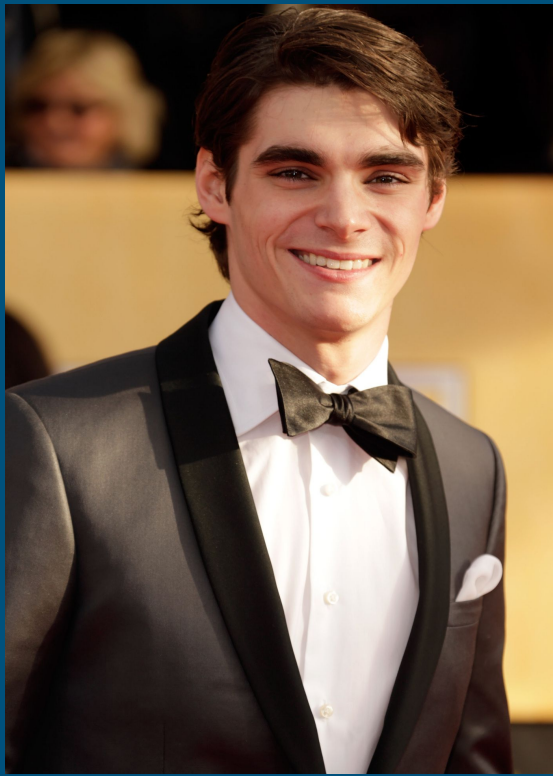

Walter Jr. is constantly on the move from place to place trying to keep up with his daily routines despite his need for crutches.

On one particular morning Walter Jr. is desperately trying to make it to class in time despite the fact his mom accidentally dropped him off in the middle of the desert.

Scared out of his mind he's going to miss his final exam worth 400% of his grade he quickly tries to search up fastest ways to make it to his school with crutches.

Luckily he comes across an app that allows him to find the fastest route and most accessible entrances to his desired destination while taking into account his need for crutches.

Despite this he is still finds himself stranded in the desert rapidly losing function due to lack of liquids in his desperate scramble he discovers that this app also has an emergency button that immediately contacts the nearest EMS to come to his location.

Thankfully saved by the EMS he is able to receive the medical attention he needs and when he is released he is able to follow the directions from his app and successfully make it to class in time for his final exam without any implications on the journey.

Story of William Goshire

George Cerimele

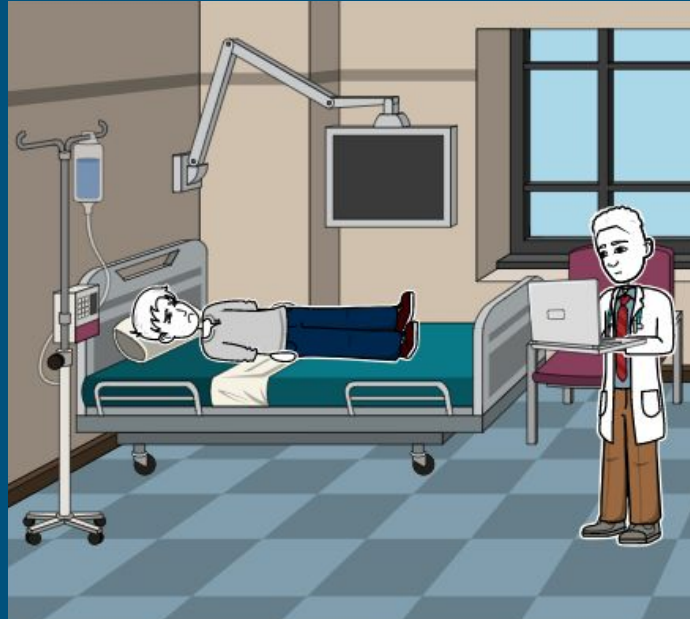

William Goshire is a construction worker.

One day he suffers a nasty fall on the job.

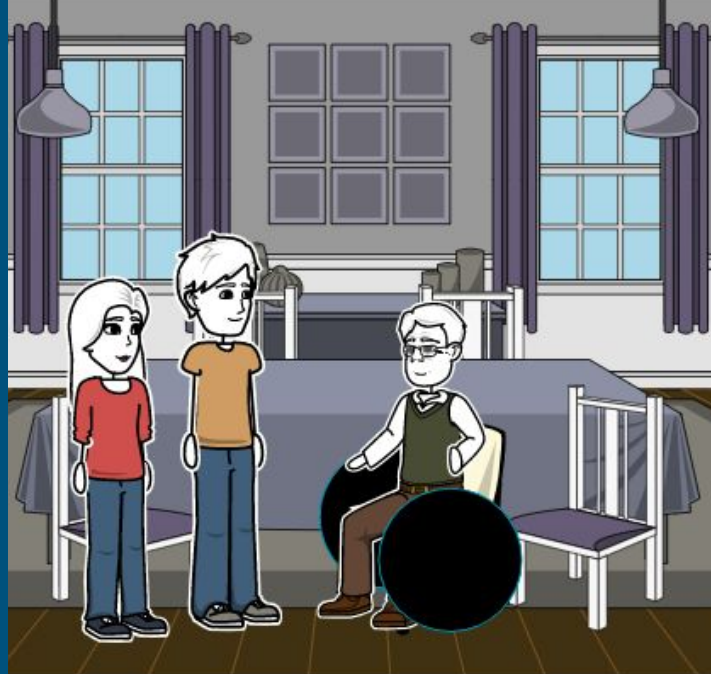

The doctor informs him he will be wheelchair-bound the rest of his life.

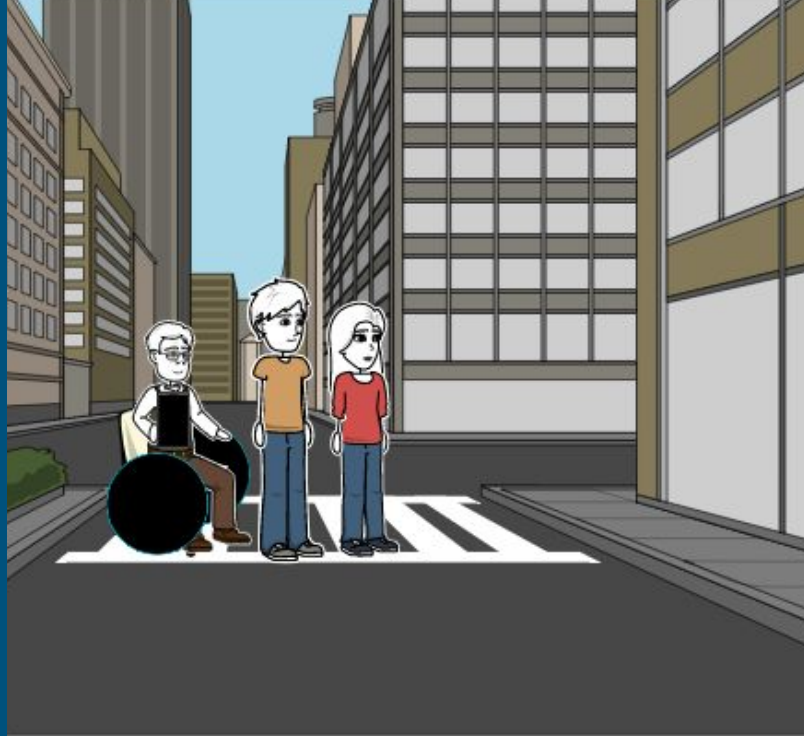

He returns home.

Many years later, his grandchildren come to visit him in the retirement home. They want to show him the college campus they are attending.

Thanks to the help from our app they are able to easily and safely navigate campus.

Story of Joel Josef Johnson

Nathan Lioe-A-Tjam

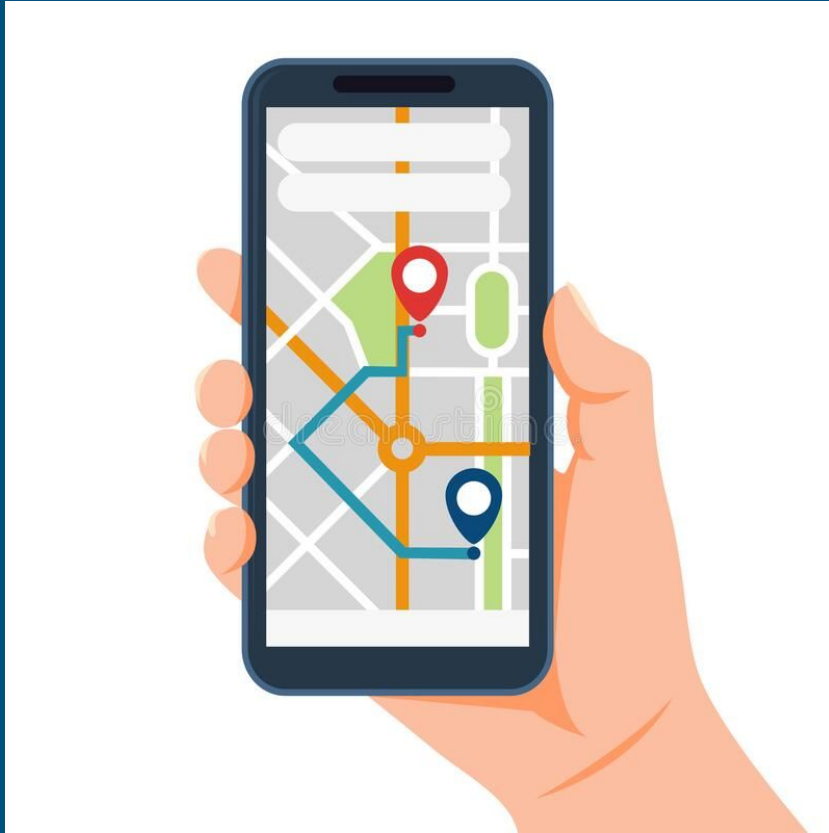

One morning Jeremy or Triple J, was walking to class. Jeremy hates waiting to cross, so he crosses the road whenever he thinks it's s

Jeremy made a wrong call to cross the road... and he got run over by a car

Jeremy has finals next week and is all worried how he is going to get to class.

A friend suggested that he download and take a look at an app that is created specially for disabled people. The app helps them navigate around USC.

Triple J can finally make it to his finals!